EDGEWATER, NJ. – March 3, 2004 -- AMS VOICECOM Inc., a US based telecommunications company, has announced its alliance with Asha for Education. “A call with AMS Voicecom is Asha for Education,” states Robert Guler, President & CEO of AMS. For each phone call made by clients who sign up for the Asha program, AMS will donate a percentage of the proceeds to Asha for Education and its charitable causes.

AMS offers inexpensive long distance calling with cost-cutting solutions to businesses as well as residential consumers. Founded a decade ago, AMS has expanded globally and provides services to markets throughout the Caribbean, Central America, South America and Europe. With services like 800 Access, World Connect, Toll Free Service, and their ever-popular Global Card, customers always stay connected through high quality, fiber optic lines. For cost conscience entrepreneurs, AMS Voicecom’s Integrated Services has solutions to fit your telecommunications needs.

Striving for the highest level of customer satisfaction, AMS Voicecom, a personal telecommunication company, offers modern and simple solutions in today’s complex world.

About Asha for Education

Asha for Education is a federally tax-exempt organization per IRS Code Section 501 (c)3. All contributions to Asha are tax-deductible. The organization is dedicated to socio-economic change in India by working to provide basic education to underprivileged children. Asha is a zero-overhead group and 100% of all donations are sent to its project partners in India.

Dedicated to change in India, Asha for Education operates on the belief that basic education is a critical prerequisite for socio-economic change. Asha, which means hope, has grown exponentially in the past 13 years since it was founded at the University of California at Berkeley. The organization has grown to include 66 Asha chapters worldwide and has supported more than 385 different projects spanning 22 states in India.
